Website Design & Development – Request for Interest

CiTR 101.9 FM is the broadcasting voice of the University of British Columbia, beginning as a student club in 1937, and gaining not-for-profit status and a place on the FM dial in 1982. Run by the Student Radio Society of UBC, CiTR offers students and community members broadcast training and access to the airwaves. CiTR offers alternative coverage of every genre and perspective, with a mandate to support niche programming and Canadian and local artists.

Since 1983, CiTR has also published Discorder Magazine, providing Vancouver's best monthly coverage of the local music and arts scene. Discorder is distributed for free throughout Vancouver, with a circulation of 8,000 copies.

Goals for New Website

The Student of Radio Society delivers its content through radio, print and online. Broadcasting is not limited to the FM dial, but now includes streaming online and making our programs available by podcast. Similarly, publication is not just about the print product, but about making our art, photography and content available online.

We're looking for a website that:

- integrates our print and radio arms with a consistent visual identity
- showcases the different types of content and offers easy access
- allow users to search by topic and access print, audio, photography, and other content
- offers members a private portal to access resources and CiTR's databases

Project Specifications

CiTR is interested in project proposals in the range of $20-40,000. If you are interested in working on this project, please contact Brenda Grunau, Station Manager, by email at stationmanager@citr.ca. Please include information about your company, an expression of interest and understanding of our needs, examples of past work, and indicate if any services are provided pro bono or at a discount. CiTR will consider those interested in the project, and will request detailed proposals from 3-5 companies.
