CiTR is hiring an Indigenous Collective Lead

CiTR 101.9 FM is the broadcasting voice of the University of British Columbia, beginning as a student club in 1937, and gaining not-for-profit status and a place on the FM dial in 1982. Run by the Student Radio Society of UBC, CiTR is a campus-based, student-driven community radio station, with a small staff and over 450+ volunteers. CiTR offers alternative coverage of every genre and perspective, with a mandate to support niche programming, local and Canadian artists, and underrepresented voices. Each week, 100+ locally produced programs are broadcast on 101.9fm in seven different languages, with live streaming and podcasts at citr.ca.

The Indigenous Collective Lead will be responsible for leading a team of volunteers to produce a weekly or biweekly radio show focusing on issues, artists, and topics relevant to the Indigenous community.

TASKS AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Managing weekly collective meetings to discuss potential subjects for the radio show
- Volunteer recruitment and supervision
- Overseeing interview scheduling
- Audio editing
- Community outreach
- Research in community issues
- Interviewing subjects for radio broadcast/podcast/print
- Social media promotion of the content created
- Copywriting/editing
- Managing correspondence on behalf of the Indigenous Collective
- Maintain and update a database of community contacts and resources
- Participate in station-wide initiatives, such as our annual fundraising drive
- Help foster a lively and welcoming environment at the station

JOB REQUIREMENTS:

The ideal candidate will have:

- A background in sound production and/or journalism is preferred, but training will be provided to the right candidate
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Motivated, creative, and organized
- The candidate will be expected to show initiative and ability to prioritize to ensure that projects are completed according to the schedule outlined at the beginning of employment
- Professional and detail-oriented
- Proven ability to work with diverse communities an asset

CiTR has a commitment to collective governance, anti-oppressive practices, and holding space for those that
